

Autumn 2021

IN THIS ISSUE

- 147 Air-Britain Affairs
- 148 Brawdy: HMS Goldcrest
- 152 Flying Flea Trophy Race
- 156 Palma: 70s Charter Central
- 160 LAP 'At Home' 1958
- 162 Fairchild Argus Part 3
- 166 MEA and the VC10
- 168 John Francis: Transport Pilot
- 172 Special Shape Nostalgia
- 174 BOAC 'Strats' Part 4
- 178 Readers' Photos
- 184 RAF Vampires: Part 1
- 189 AB-IX Report
- 190 Global Business Jets
- 195 General Aviation News
- 196 Malta Biplanes 1937/38
- 197 Soliloquy for a Sea Otter
- 199 More Grand Days Out
- 200 Latin American One-Elevens
- 204 Air-Britain Fly-In, 2021
- 206 Republic Aviation Part 5
- 210 Air Force One, Times Two
- 212 A Supersonic DC-8
- 213 Feedback
- 214 Bookshelf
- 215 Who's Who in Air-Britain
- 216 ARJ21: The First Fifty

THE AVIATION WORLD EDITORIAL TEAM

Editor: Paul Jackson

Paul.Jackson@Air-Britain.com

Deputy Editor: Rod Simpson

Rod.Simpson@Air-Britain.com

Assistant Editors: Steve Mitchell

Steve.Mitchell@Air-Britain.com

Graham Salt

Graham.Salt@Air-Britain.com

Military Editor: Steve Bond

Steve.Bond@Air-Britain.com

Civil Editor: Robert Swan

Robert.Swan@Air-Britain.com

Cover Picture: In this issue, the Republic Aviation story arrives at the post-war jet fighter era and mentions some of the less successful ventures, such as the incredibly noisy XF-84H turboprop, unofficially known as the Thunderscreech. 51-17059 was the first of only two built and is here captured at Wright-Patterson AFB in October 2015, while being moved between buildings of the National Museum of the US Air Force (Ken LaRock, USAF)

PAGE 152

PAGE 168

PAGE 172

PAGE 184

PAGE 190

PAGE 200

PAGE 204